10th Amendment Question

The Powers not delegated to the United States by the Constituition, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the People.

1st Amendment Violation

Congress shall make no law respecting (-) or abridging (cut short) the freedom of speech, or of the press;

A man was convicted of a crime for writing personal letters with proper postage mailed with the post office, in Wisconsin Under a law the Wisconsin Congress passed.

Is this a Violation of Constitutional laws 10th amendment and first Amendment?

Does the press cover all writen words weather they are personal letters or for the freedom of the press do they need to be writen in a news paper?

9th Amendment Question

The enumeration (listing off) in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed (put together) to deny or disparage (put down) others retained by the people.

11th Amendment question

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

When a citizen has had a constitutional right denied and the courts of that state refuse to hear the case or correct the wrong can the 11th Amendment denie a case against the state or judges in the state for constitutional violations or does the ninth amendment for bid the 11th amendment from dening prosecution against a state by one of it's own citizens?

Article VI second paragraph question.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United states, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. (have no Standing if they contradict the Constitution of the United States)?

several questions

What does it stand for when it says shall be the Supreme Law of The Land?

Does it mean the 10th Amendment does not allow states to have laws that violate the first amendment?

Does it mean the 9th amendment does not allow the 11th amendment to grant states immunity from suit for constitutional violations denying the first amendment to its own state citizens?

When the Constitution says the Judges in every state shall be bound thereby. Can the Judges be bound to the constitution and at the same time be immune from it. (Immune from suit when they violate the constitutional provisions)?

When the Constitution says anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

Does this inturpret to laws that contradict the Constitution have no standing? and the Constitution is the Supreme law of the land?

Article III 1st Paragraph qusetion?

The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, (----)

Is not following constitutional law bad behaviour? When judges of both the United States and of the several states shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support (advocate) this constitution from Article VI Paragraph 3

Article VI paragraph 3

The Senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the severaal state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support (advocate) this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW pg v

Article III Sec. 2 Paragraph 1, Questions?

The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under thier authority; -to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls;(---)And between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states citizens or subjects.

Understanding the last sentence to be inturpreted as the state of WI can take a citizen of the state of MN to court for a speeding ticket or violation of a WI law. In WI.

Article III Sec. 2 Paragraph 2 Questions?

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. (----)

If Judges of a state are put on trial for constitutional violations does the supreme court have original jurisdiction, when plaintiff has asked the supreme court of that state the attourney general of that state the governor of that state to correct the constitutional violations against him and No one in the state will?

1st Amendment question (religion)

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; -----

Article VII

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present the seventeenth day of september in the year of our lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty seven -----

All money says in God We Trust

Declaration of Independance July 4 1776

----- We, therefore, the Representatives of the united states of america, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these United Colonies are and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States;

The United States Recognizes God in different ways, God is watching.

If you know history you can see his hand Blessing the United States.

Now I ask the Supreme Court of The United States to grant the provision in the Constitution that No Law can be passed to prevent the practice of ones religion.

Should not Judges order Jails be certain an inmate can practice his religion or be transfered to an institution that will. (Immediatly).

So as to enforce this law I ask for Punitive damages, then the state will take Religion seriously.

This Godly Decision is up to you the humans of the Supreme Court.

--WARNING-- when the federal supreme court errored in the dred scott case not following the provision in the declaration that all men are created equal, our nation was thrown into a civil war. many people lost there lives.

I know God is patient But I also see things that are pre war exibits. It's not my case

14th Amendment questions

No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United states; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Can a state supreme court by not hearing a case which makes writing letters a crime be innocent of enforcing a law which does abridge the privilegedes or immunities of citizens of the United States?

Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property with out due process of law.

Is putting a person in jail for a missdemeaner while they are struggling to appeal there case deprivation of liberty with out complete due process of law.

Nor deny to any person with in its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

If the state claims one who provokes another is guilty of crime and must go to Jail. Do not even judges must conduct themselves so as not to provok another person or they themselves would violate the law? Does not the defendant deserve equal protection of the law?

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW pg ix

The courts have ruled in the past that judges can not be tried when litigants have been provoked.

Should not ordinary citizens have this same right when another is provoked with a defendant should the defendant not be immune from suit, as a judge would be immune?

Is this not what the first amendment is about?

AGENCYS OF THIS CASE pg x

One or two of the defendants on the cover may have left office during this case. Agencys in volved in this case are as follows

The WI Supreme Court

The WI attourney general

The WI governor

The WI Court of Appeals

The WI Curcuit Court (St Croix County).

The State of WI

Curcuit court prossecutor (should know the constitution).

AGENCYS CONTACTED AND NOT INVOLVED

The Wi Judicial Council, they never responded and take there cases before the WI Supreme court one of the already defendants, making any thing they do absolutly pointless.

The local U.S. Attourneys office, Is not being invloved, The State Should have solved this problem. (I'm not insinuating they are not guilty)

The Local Jail is not invloved, How can they be When the State of WI Judges would not order them to let the defendant practice his religion. (I'm trying to keep this complicated matter, simple)

This case is against the State of WI and the people who make up that justice department, The governor was contacted before suit was filed.

The basis for federal jurisdiction in the seventh circuit court of appeals was entered under 28 U.S.C. §1291

The seventh curcuit court of appeals did not comment on the issues of article III Article VI the ninth amendment or the tenth amendment.

These are the laws that clearly state the constitution is the supreme law of the land.

That states can have laws that are not forbiden by the constitution

That all judges are bound to the constitution.

A man wrote a letter to a woman it's normal many people do it but in this case the state called it dissorderly conduct because the woman was provoked.

Under the Constitution Dissorderly Conduct is legal when it claims it is illegal to hit or kick someone so this law is legal.

The State Claimed writing letters is conduct therefore it is dissorderly conduct and Illegal, when the person writen to is provoked.

In this case the defendant Pat Schottler claims the constitution does not allow any law to be passed to abridge one's freedom of speach or of the press.

It doesn't matter how a law may be worded it can not be applied to abridge ones freedom of speach.

What the state has showed Pat Schottler is he can not write letters or he will be put in jail. they took away his freedom to speak, or write.

THIS IS NOT FAIR.

"SPEECH" (statement of case)

Pat did not hit kick push or shove anyone.

Pat appealed his case

WI Curcuit court

Wi court of appeals

Wi supreme Court

Federal Supreme Court.

This is how each court decided the case

Curcuit court said WI supreme Court said even words can be a crime and let the conviction stand.

Transcript was defective Pat asked WI court of appeals to correct transcript that was denied. Pat could not send Transcript that was defective WI appeals court said with out transcript it could not reverse Case.

Pat appealed to WI Supreme Court There claim they could chose at there own option what cases they would hear and they chose not to hear this one.

Pat appealed to Federal Supreme Court while confined in jail which did not cooperate in appeal. Federal Supreme court clerk returned Document as out of time. though document had been filed on time even with difficulty.

This is a short version of what happened what happened can be spread out on to over 500 pages.

Pat asked Governor Thompson to hold a hearing with the Supreme Court, Governor Thompson chose not to get involved.

Pat filed suit in District Court It was dissmissed Claiming Judges and prosecutors are immune from suit.

Appealed to the seventh circuit, which claimed lack of custody

This sinario has left a state with authouity to abridge ones freedom I ask the federal Supreme Court to Intervien.

Case no 99-4364 "RELIGION" (statement of case)

When Pat Schottler was convicted of dissorderly conduct for writing letters, he was taken to jail for a 90 day sentence. Pat Attends Sunday Catholic mass every sunday rain or shine cold or deep snow. and has for the past 25 years. Irregardless of weather or not he should have been put in jail for writing letters he told jail staff after getting cleaned up he was ready for religious services. he was catholic. The Jail staff notified him there was no catholic services. On sunday.

Pat took this issue up with the judge who convicted him. at a hueber priveleges hearing the judge ordered he be released for work but did not order his release for church. Soon after that pat's appeal went through and he was release from jail to persue his case of the freedom to speak or write.

This case did not go as planned and pat was put back in jail and still not allowed to go to church. he appealed to the Wi Supreme court having been through the local jail captain local judge.

The Supreme Court did not review the case.

Pat linked both his religious case and freedom of speach case together and appealed to the federal supreme court the clerk returned the papers as untimely. Pat filed suit aginst all judges inolved in the federal district court (Why file against the Jail they will do what ever there ordered to do) the district court dissmissed the case Pat appealed to the 7th Curcuit which claimed judges are immune and not responsible for not ordering the jail to release person for church.

Pat Schottler chose to separate the two issues of freedom of speach and religion. Do to time, costs, and clarity chose to join them together, in One writ.

Now ask the question if a person goes to church every sunday then are confined by another person and not allowed to practice there religion are they not being prevented and is this not garenteed under the constitution?

is it not a judges responsibility to decide this issue and oreder a jail to make sure no person is prevented from prscticing there religion.

When the judges attourney gererals are notified and chose to defend themselves in a suit are they not guilty of preventing or aiding the prevention of one from practicing there religion is this not neglegence.

To the best of my knowlege still to this day catholics are not allowed to practice ther religion in jail. that being attending sunday Mass.

Argument Amplifing Reasons relied on for allowance of the writ

All money say's in god we trust, the seventh article in the constitution references the date of the constitution by the number of day's from the birth of crist. So to the constitution recognizes God and also Recognizes People worship God Differently.

God should not be ignored by the justice department and if you know the history of the revelution you would know God had a hand in that too, giving the United States there freedom and acknowledging the United states Acknowledges God.

The Declaration of Independance Reffered to him as the Supreme Judge of the World.

REASON FOR ALOWANCE OF WRIT

A direct and conciser Argument amplifying the reasons relied on for alowance of the writ.

A United States Court of appeals has not decided an important question of federal law that has not been, but should be settled by this court.

Other Complaints not fully adressed in writ.

At this point I wish to Appologize to the Federal Supreme Court, there is absolutly no reason this case should ever have been brought before you yet all I can say is HERE IT IS and ask what eles could I do?

Should the Federal Supreme Court denie review of this case because I Pro Se am inadaquit to present it , Please so Note (or don't note) in your denial so that the State of WI can know or ( ) it is Not legal to Denie Constitutional Garenties.

This is a question, fairly included in writ?

FOOT NOTES

Some how I nee[illegible] put in words that it is not uncommon for me to do something even a large task by my self.

Pro Se

I Believe the state interprets me by my self as "Easy Quarry" They don't need to follow constitutional Laws

I hope the federal Supreme Court Enforces the Constitutional Garenties to every citizen even those who stand a lone.

2. I have asked several attourneys 255+ Judges 167 Law Schools. When they would not help I went forward a lone.

Relief Sought

The Relief I seek I will ask with a question. What Authority do I as a citizen of the United States have over my government to enforce the Constitution to all citizens when agency's will not do anything to those who violate the constitution. as a citizen the only option I could find in the law books was money. If the State had to pay out money a lot of money for there crime they would ensure it never happen again.

How ever you the federal supreme court have other options

After release from prison, where Wisconsin had confined him for 90 days following his conviction for disorderly conduct, Patrick Schottler filed this action under 42 U.S.C. §1983 demanding the expungement of his conviction and $30 million in damages. The district court dismissed the action on the pleadings, ruling that the state judges have absolute immunity, and that the Rooker-feldman doctrine, which holds that federal courts may not review the judgments of state courts, blocks Schotler's remaining claims. See Rooker v. Fidelity Trust Co., 263 U.S. 413 (1923);

foot note by Judge

After an examination of the briefs and the record, we have concluded that oral argument is unnecessary, and the appeal is submitted on the briefs and the record. See Fed. R. App. P. 34(a); Cir. R. 34(f).

District of Columbia Court of Appeals v. Feldman, 460 U.S. 462 (1983).

We start with the claim against Wisconsin. The Eleventh Amendment would be relevant if a state were a "person" within the scope of §1983, for then the court would have to decide whether §5 of the fourteenth Amendment authorizes Congress to execise such a power. But the Supreme Court has held that a state is not a "person," so that no constitutional question arises. See Arizonans for Official English V. Arizona, 520 U.S. 43, 69 (1997); Will v. Michigan Department of State Police, 491 U.S. 58 (1989). The claim against Wisconsin must be dismissed because §1983 does not apply.

As for the Rooker-Feldman doctrine: although federal courts (other than the Supreme Court) may not review state-court decisions in civil litigation, they regularly review the validity of criminal convictions, see 28 U.S.C. §2241, §2254, and this is one thing Schottler wants. His problem is not the Rooker-Feldman doctrine but the lack of "custody." Because he waited until after his release to commence this suit, federal collateral attack is impossible. And because his state conviction has not been overturned on appeal or by collateral attack, §1983 does not authorize money damages. Indeed, given Heck V. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1984), no claim for damages has even accrued, making it premature to consider any other issue. If in the future a state court should annul the conviction, a potential claim under §1983 then would come into being. In that event the judicial defendants, at least, would have absolute immunity, but the lack of a claim means that no affirmative defense is yet relevant.

Schottler believes that some of the things that happened to him in prison violate the first amendment or the eighth Amendment (both applied to the states through the fourteenth), but none of the defendants in this case controlled the conditions of his confinement. These claims, to the extent we can decipher them, also appear to be substantively frivolous. For example, Schottler contends that Wisconsin violated the free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment because it would not let him out of prison every sunday to attend church. If such claims are made again, say against the prison's warden, the district court sould consider imposing sanctions. But we need not pursue the matter now.

The judgment of the district Court is vacated, and the case is remanded with instructions to dismiss the suit against the state with prejudice (rather than for want of jurisdiction, as the district court did) and to dismiss the suit against the individual defendants without prejudice under Heck.

JUDGMENT WITH OUT ORAL ARGUMENT

the judgment of the District Court is VACATED and this cause is REMANDED with instructions to dismiss the suit against the State with prejudice and to dismiss the suit against the individual defendants without prejudice under Heck, in accordance with the decision of this court entered on this date. Costs are awarded in favor of the appelees.

Memorandum and order Dec 1, 1999

Plaintiff commenced this civil action on October 24, 1999 and paid the filing fee. He seeks thirty million dollars in damages together with the reversal of his state criminal conviction.

On November 10, 1999 defendants state of Wisconsin, Chief Shirley Abrahamson, Donald W. Steinmetz, William A. Bablitch, John P. Wilcox, Ann Walsh Bradley David Prosser, Mary E. Burke, James E. Doyle, Tommy Thompson, P. J. Cane, Thomas Cane, Eric J. Lundell, Dennis Erickson, C.A. Richards, Scott Needham and Patrick Crooks moved to dismiss plaintiff's complaint. Plaintiff responded to this motion on November 23, 1999. No further briefing is required.

A complaint should be dismissed for failure to state a claim only if it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that the plaintiffs can prove no set of facts in support of the claim which would entitle the plaintiffs to relief. Conley V. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957). In order to survive a challenge under Rule 12(b)(6) a complaint "must contain either direct or inferential allegations respecting all the material elements necessary to sustain recovery under some viable legal theory." Car Carriers, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co., 745 F. 2d 1101, 1106 (7th Cir. 1984).

FACTS

For purposes of deciding defendant's motion to dismiss the facts alleged in plaintiff's complaint are taken as true.

Plaintiff Patrick J. Schottler is an sdult resident of Wisconsin. Defendants Chief Shirley Abrahamson, Donald W. Steinmetz, William A. Bablitch, John P. Wilcox, Ann Walsh Bradley, David Prosser and Patrcik Crooks are justices of the Wisconsin Supreme Court. Defendants P. J. Cane and Thomas Cane are Wisconsin Court of appeals judges. Defendants Eric J. Lundell, C.A. Richards and Scott Needham are St. Croix county Circuit Court judges. Defendant James E. Doyle is the Attorney General for the state of Wisconsin, and defendant Mary E. Burke is an assistant Attorney general. Defendant Dennis Erickson is an assistant district attorney for St. Croix County. Defendant Tommy Thompson is the Governor of Wisconsin.

In 1995 and 1996 plaintiff was prosecuted in St. Croix County for disorderly conduct. In January 1997 plaintiff was convicted and sentenced to 90 days in jail by defendant Judge Lundell. Plaintiff's conviction was summarily affirmed by Judge R. Thomas Cane of The Wisconsin Court of Appeals. Plaintiff petitioned for review by the Wisconsin Supreme Court. Defendants James E. Doyle and Mary E. Burke opposed the petition. In Novermber 1997 the Wisconsin Supreme Court denied plaintiff's petition for review. In January 1998 the Court denied plaintiff's motion for a rehearing.

In January 1999 Governor Thompson's office advised plaintiff that he did not have authority to become involved in this case.

MEMORANDUM

Defendant State of Wisconsin moves to dismiss plaintiff's complaint for money damages against the State of Wisconsin on the basis of Eleventh Amendment immunity. the State of Wisconsin is immune from suit for money damages. See Quern V. Jordan, 440 U.S.C. 332, 337 (1979). Accordingly, plaintiff's claim against the State of Wisconsin for money damages will be dismissed.

Defendant justices Chief Shirley Abrahamson, Donald W. Steinmetz, William A. Bablitch, John P. Wilcox, Ann Walsh Bradley, David Prosser, Patrick Crooks and judges P.J. Cane, Thomas Cane, Eric J. Lundell, C.A. Richards and Scott Needham move to dismiss plaintiff's complaint for money damages on the basis of judicial immunity. Judges are immune from suit for money damages for acts taken in their judicial capacity except when they act in the clear absence of all jurisdiction. Stump v.

Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349, 355-56, reh. Denied, 436 U.S. 9561 (1978). Plaintiff alleges that the defendant judges were acting in their judicial capacity. Accordingly, they are immune from suit for money damages.

Defendants Doyle, Burke and Erickson move to dismiss plaintiff's claim for money damages on the basis of prosecutorial immunity. A prosecutor has absolute immunity for initiating a prosecution and presenting the state's case. Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409, 431 (1976). Plaintiff alleges that defendant Erickson prosecuted a case against him and that defendants Doyle and Burke opposed his petition for review on behalf of the state. These defendants are absolutely immune from suits for money damages.

Plaintiff appears to be also asking that his state criminal case be reversed. This court lacks authority to review final judgments of a state court. See district of columbia Court of Appeals v. Feldman, 460 U.S. 476, 482 (1983); Rooker v. Fidelity Co., 263 U.S. 413-415-416 (1923). Plaintiff's claim for injunctive relief, the reversal of his conviction against the state defendants will be dismissed.

Defendant Tommy Thompson moves to dismiss plaintiff's complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Plaintiff has alleged no facts that support a claim that defendant Thompson violated plaintiff's constitutional rights. Accordingly, plaintiff's complaint against defendant Thompson will be dismissed.

Plaintiff has not stated a claim for relief under federal law against any of the named defendants. Accordingly, their motion to dismiss will be granted.

ORDER

IT IS ORDERED that the defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiff's complaint is GRANTED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that judgment is entered in favor of defendants against plaintiff DISMISSING his complaint and all claims contained therein with prejudice and costs.

Entered this 1st day of December, 1999.

BY THE COURT:

JOHN C. SHABAZ
District Judge

ARTICLE III

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Section 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; -to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; -to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; -to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; -to controversies between two or more states; -between a state and citizens of another state; -between citizens of different states; -between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the othercases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treson unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE VI

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authourity of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation , to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII

The ratification of the conventions of nine stats, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present the seventeenth day of september in the year of our lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty seven and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth.

AMENDMENTS TO THE U.S. CONSTITUTION

The first 10 Amendments were ratified December 15, 1791, and form what is known as the "Bill of Rights"

AMENDMENT I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

AMENDMENT VIII

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

AMENDMENT IX

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

AMENDMENT X

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

AMENDMENT XI

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

AMENDMENT XIV
(Ratified July 9, 1868)

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the united States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

Section 3. no person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authouized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illigal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

(Date Unknown after Gov letter January 26, 1999)

I suspect I'm getting the Run around.

I was asked to contact you by the Governors Office about complaints against Judges. (page 2)

It is my Understanding that this judicial counsel answers to The Wisconsin Supreme Court which issues the desicions.

I have had problems with judges under there super vision not following the laws of the United States Constitution and did appeal my case to the Wisconsin Supreme Court who felt the Lower Judges didn't need to follow the Laws of this country & didn't feel they needed to review this case.

Esencially my problem is with the Wisconsin Supreme Court for not maintaining the Constitution & Allowing the Judges below them not to maintain it either.

If you read this case you will see that I did indeed appeal to the Federal Supreme Court in which the Clerk pulled a routeen clever manuver so the federal judges would never see it.

I've been in the Run around plenty of times I know it nearly as well as the people who give it. Some may not even know there a part of it such as you.

Not to slight the governor but he doesn't want to take responsibility (because of the consiquences) so he gives it to his policy assistant. who won't take responsibiliyt but directs it to you.

So as to clarify who & what I am & what I stand for & EXPECT.

I am the type of person who can would & will take this case up with the Wisconsin Supreme Court point out that they screwed up and

EXPECT THEM TO CORRECT IT

OUT OF THERE OWN VOLINTARY ATHOURITY TO DO SO. eVERY BODY MAKES MISTAKES EVEN i DO WHICH IS WHY i WAS BROUGHT INTO COURT IN THE FIRST PLACE i DIDN'T KNOW THE WOMAN WAS MARRIED & i TOLD THEM sO.

The Constitution garenties I can make mistakes with woxrds & No law can be passed to abridge that.

They were not using words when they threw me in jail & wouldn't let me go to church.

RESOPNSE IN OPPOSITION TO PETITION FOR REVIEW

Pursuant to Rule 809.62, stats., the State of Wisconsin, by its undersigned attorneys, opposes the petition for review ("petition") for the following reasons:

1. The court of appeals applied the correct principles of law and correct standards of appellate review. Ther is no basis for further review by this court.
2. This case presents no significant question of state or federal constitutional law. Rule 809.62(1) (a), Stats.
3. There is no need for this court to consider establishing, implementing or changing a policy within its authority. Rule 809.62(1)(b), Stats.
4. There is no need for this court to develop, clarify or harmonize the law. Rule 809.62(1)(c),Stats.
5. The court of Appeals' decision does not conflict with controlling precedent. Rule 809.62(1) (d), Stats.
6. There is no need to reexamine current law. Rule 809.62(1)(e), Stats.
7. The court of appeals' decision has not been recommended for publication, and will have no precedential effect.
8. The interests of justice do not warrant further review in this case.

THEREFORE, the state respectfully requests that this court deny the petition for review.

Foot note by Pat Schottler

I can not let this letter go with out commenting on Att Generals reason 2. "this case presents no significant question of state or federal constitutional law".

NO SIGNIFICANT QUESTION" means there IS a question. The attorney general didn't think it was an important question. and wrote the replie to appear as though there were "NO QUESTION" of Constitutional law.

Second thing according to the state of Wisconsin words are a crime, Then why aren't they put in jail for there words?

Third is responce number 7. Since the court of appeals responce is not recomended for publication it will have no precedential effect.

This responce voids all previous reasons and states since no one will find out it doesn't matter.

Anyone who has taken an oath to support the Constitution and follows those laws, would find this letter as a whole, PROVOCATIVE.

This is some exerpts from transcript that is defective.

THE COURT: -- and you were fairly, okay. Now I understand -- I can't imagine anyone who likes being convicted. I understand you don't like it. But the fact is you were convicted, okay. So we have to go to the next phase here and that's the sentencing phase. and --

THE DEFENDANT; I object to the sentencing under violation of the 6th amendment.

THE COURT: And your objection is denied, okay. We are going to proceed. Mr. Erickson what's your --

THE DEFENDANT: I object to the sentencing upon the prosecution's cross-examination or neglect. It was -- obviously the only evidence against me was written with pen and paper which falls under 1st Amendment. In which it states no law shall -- can be passed forbidding speech. The question are words written on paper, speech. Under Supreme Court Rule 60.02 a Judge should support the United States and Wisconsin Constitutions and fearlessly observe and apply their limitations and guarantees. My -- my case should be dismissed under the 1st Amendment.

THE COURT: All right. So noted. You're overruled. Motion for new trial is denied on that basis.

THE DEFENDANT: That was motion to dismiss the case. Another motion --

THE COURT Okay, motion to dismiss is denied.

THE DEFENDANT: Another motion to dismiss the case, I object on the -- 9th Amendment as it states just because the right is not listed does not mean it's not covered. In other words, the 1st Amendment is covered and make no mistakes of it. (Even though attached to the amendments before it are not necessarily solid on the people)#, just because it is not listed here, does not mean it is not covered.

THE COURT: Okay. Motion to dismiss on that basis is denied.

THE DEFENDANT: Make another motion. And I object under the 10th Amendment. It states that the states cannot have laws that are not protected rights of the constitution. 1st amendment guarantees the freedom of speech.

THE COURT: Okay. That request is motion to dismiss and that's denied.

THE DEFENDANT: Another motion is -- not necessary the motion, but a start in the process of another two cases under the 14th Amendment. The government officials must obey their own laws and interpretation of them since it is both your and prosecuter's interpretation that reads, just because a person is provoked makes another guilty of a crime. Therefore (foot note) # transcript error by one who does not understand the ninth amendment.

because I am (provoked)* by both of you and (prosecutor)* for numerous reasons, one being responsibility for my conviction, you must obey your own laws and be found guilty of disorderly conduct. This is # defective transcript * transcript error

both yours and prosecutor's interpretation of the law. The law reads just because a person is provoked makes another guilty of a crime. There fore because I am provoked with both of you and the prosecutor for numerous reasons, one being responsibility for my conviction, you must obey your own laws and be found guilty of disorderly conduct. This is both yours and the prosecutor's interpretation of the law. The law reads because a person is provoked makes the accused guilty. I wanted --

THE COURT: So what are you asking there?

THE DEFENDANT: I'll have to go to a different attorney.

THE COURT: okay

THE DEFENDANT: Okay, the other thing I wanted to tell you, yes, I do respect you as a person who has a great deal of patience. And I certainly did expect to get a fair trial. But you must understand that when you reached over and Took those letters,

Though I was not totally aware of it at that time,

that's when I lost my respect for you.

That's where I am testing your patience because

I did not get a fair trial. I don't deny that you're not a good Judge, but that is when you crossed over my line. I am a pretty reasonable person.

MR. ERICKSON: As a matter of fact our office is contemplating additional charges against Mr. Schottler. And I'm not prepared to say today just what may or may not happen. But Mr. Schottler just might as well be aware of that today.

THE DEFENDANT: Would you care to relate what was written in the letter.

THE COURT: We're not handling that matter. We are handling the former matter first.
------ THE DEFENDANT: See he's insinuating that I wrote something of a nature that I wrote --

THE COURT: Mr. Schottler.

THE DEFENDANT: -- to Mrs. Metzdorf, and I did not. I wished ( ) them a Merry christmas and a Happy New Year --

THE COURT: Mr. Schottler.

THE DEFENDANT: -- and that's what the letter said. And they are going to press charges against me for that, your Honor. Do you understand I am not being treated fairly here.

THE COURT: Mr. Schottler, that's another matter, another day, another time, okay. Let's deal with the Metzdorf case first. ------

THE COURT: Mr. Schottler, we'll note your desagreement with the charge of disorderly conduct, Okay, with the defense of 1st Amendment. Unfortunately for you, most all people disagree with you. Twelve people on the jury disagreed with you.

THE DEFENDANT: That's not necessarily true because they were not told the truth. And that's why I'm asking for a new trial.

THE COURT: And that's been denied, hasn't it. Okay, let's proceed.

THE DEFENDANT: You do understand that I have not been able to communicate with the person.

THE COURT: I understand that. The issue of whether you are remorseful to the Metzdorfs I think perhaps is up in the air. I know you've apologized to them, but the problem is you don't accept the fact that you've been convicted of a crime. And once that would occur I think everything that happens thereafter you would have to accept the fact that we live in a society of rules and regulations and order. And what you've done is you've caused some disorder amongst those rules.

THE DEFENDANT: Do you understand -- (The 1st Amendment)*

THE COURT: You're living by a set of rules that I don't understand. You're living by your own set of rules and your own order. And frankly, you are writing those rules and setting up the order.

THE DEFENDANT: I got to object to that.

THE COURT: And we don't quite understand what your're getting at here, okay. Now, if you're not doing that, that I've just tried to explain here, then the only set of rules and order are the ones that society has set up and you violated those rules. You've been convicted because of that. It is as simple as that. This is elementary. It is simple. And it's fundamental, okay. Pat, you're simply going to have to understand that you have to follow rules whether you like them or not. Whether you accept them or not, you have to follow these rules. And you have to follow the record of society. And part of that includes you don't write letters through the U.S. mail or hand -- you could have handed them to the librarian, it would have been the same effect here. You can't do something which causes someone to be provoked or disturbed to such an extent that they press charges.

*Not in the Transcript "defendant did say"

THE DEFENDANT: How can a person know that.

THE TRANSCRIPT CONTINUES.

1900 DISORDERLY CONDUCT -- 947.01

Disorderly conduct, as defined in 947.01 (1) of the criminal code of Wisconsin, is committed by a person who, in a public or private-place, engages in violent, abusive, indecent, profane, boisterous, unreasonably loud, or otherwise disorderly conduct under circumstances in which such conduct tends to cause or provoke a disturbance.

Writen as stated by Judge Lundell

Before the defendant may be found guilty of disorderly conduct, the State must prove by evidence which satisfies you beyond a reasonable doubt that the following two elements were present.

First, that the defendant engaged in (violent) (abusive) (indecent) (profane) (boisterous) (unreasonably loud) (or otherwise disorderly) conduct.

Second, that the conduct of the defendant, under the circumstances as they then existed, tended to cause or provoke a disturbance.

The first element of this offense requires that the defendant engaged in (violent) (abusive) ( indecent) (profane) (boisterous) (unreasonabley loud) (or otherwise disorderly) conduct. This element of the offense may include physical acts or language or both.

*The general phrase "disorderly conduct" means conduct having a tendency to disrupt good order and provoke a disturbance. It includes all such acts and conduct as are of a nature to corrupt the public morals or to outrage the sense of public decency, whether committed by words or acts. Conduct is disorderly although it may not be violent, abusive, indecent, profane, boisterous, or unreasonably loud if it is of a type which tends to disrupt good order and provoke a disturbance."

The principle upon which this offense is based is that in an organized society one should so conduct himself as not to unreasonably offend the senses or sensibilities of others in the community. This does not mean that all conduct which tends to disturb another is disorderly conduct. Only such conduct as unreasonably offends the sense of decency or propriety of the community is included. It does not include conduct which is generally tolerated by the community at large but which might disturb an oversensitive person.

The second element of this offense requires that the defendant's conduct, under the circumstances as they then existed, tended to cause or provoke a disturbance. It is not necessary that an actual disturbance must have resulted from the defendant's conduct. The law requires only that the conduct be of a type which tends to cause or provoke a disturbance, under the circumstances as they then existed. You must consider not only the nature of the conduct but also the circumstances surrounding that conduct. What is proper under one set of circumstances may be improper under other circumstances. This element requires that the conduct of the defendant, under the circumstances as they then existed, tended to cause or provoke a disturbance.

If you are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt from the evidence in this case that the defendant engaged in (violent) (abusive) (indecent) (profane) (boisterous) (unreasonably loud) (or otherwise disorderly) conduct and that his conduct, under the circumstances as they then existed, tended to cause or provoke a disturbance, you should find the defendant guilty.

If you are not so satisfied, you must find the defendant not guilty.
